

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE – RecordMax continues making significant investments and enhancements in Chattanooga business.

December 7th, 2007 – Chattanooga, Tennessee

The RecordMax Companies confirmed its pattern of making continued aggressive investment into its Chattanooga operation; a location added to the RecordMax family of companies earlier this year. The ongoing enhancements include people, technology and other resources all intended to ultimately improve the experience of customers in the Greater Chattanooga area.

We're excited to have added several new members to our customer service and business development teams. Joan Kile joins RecordMax with a background in managing large customer relationships as a major accounts representative with ADP (Automated Data Processing). Joan resides in Ooltewah with her husband David and can be reached by phone at 423-643-3561 or via email at jkile@recordmax.com. Boyd Greene joins RecordMax as a member of the operations and logistics team. Boyd was born and raised in the Chattanooga area and, when not serving our customers, is a very talented painter...marketing his work both online and thru local galleries. Boyd can be reached at 423-643-3561.

In concert with longtime business partner REB Storage Systems, Inc., RecordMax began implementation of a new racking/shelving system within its secure Chattanooga storage facilities. The building, a bunker-like structure on a raised foundation just south of downtown, received a new long term shelving layout with the first phase of the system being recently completed. The new system includes heavy duty floor mounted guide rails to protect the integrity of all racking and customer deposits; plus a new snap-deck, aluminum shelving upgrade to facilitate smooth movement of storage containers during initial filing, retrieval or refile.

And you can expect continued enhancements in the business systems used by RecordMax in Chattanooga. While customers will clearly benefit from new relationships with Digitech Systems, Kodak and Fujitsu in the digital world, traditional paper document customers should appreciate new electronic receipt printing on pick-ups and deliveries as well as new web-based tools for managing descriptive information, for setting up retention schedules or for placing online service requests.
