

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE – RecordMax Works With New Orleans Area Law Firms on Database Conversions for Online Records Management

January 31st, 2009 – New Orleans, LA

RecordMax New Orleans is excited to announce the successful conversion of several different databases for two premier local law firms into the RecordMax online records management solution.

“Our efforts come after numerous meetings over the last ninety days or so where we’ve taken existing databases, modified or cleaned up the legacy data and designed custom forms for online ordering, searching, editing and adding new records to storage” offered RecordMax General Manager Gary Cooper. “We’ve been working closely with several customers, have really been trying to personalize everything & I think the result has been well worth the effort. The focus now is basically reinforcement on software usage & some of the various searching options” Cooper added.

Blue Williams, LLP

One of the law firms involved in these database conversions and that is now using the online software is Blue Williams, a Southeast Louisiana firm of forty or so attorneys with offices in Metairie and Mandeville. Coordinating things for Blue Williams has been Helena Obregon (the firm’s Director of IT and Facilities) and records coordinator Kati Alexander. The new implementation and file migration for Blue Williams involved an electronic transition for all client/matter numbers, file descriptions, assigned attorneys and destruction dates for roughly 12,500 closed case files. Ms. Obregon can be reached at hobregon@bluewilliams.com.

Carver, Darden, Koretzky, Tessier, Finn, Blossman & Areaux LLC

Another RecordMax customer that had data converted and imported into the online system is Carver, Darden (et al), a fifteen year old firm of nearly thirty attorneys with offices in New Orleans and Pensacola. Legal Administrator Maggie Anderson and records coordinator Kellom Williams provided several different sources for data to be moved into the new software including roughly 25,000 lines of container contents information as well as specific attorneys assigned to the various files stored offsite. Ms. Anderson can be reached at anderson@carverdarden.com.
